

Jim Morrison

Director of Veteran Opportunity

Indiana Lt. Governor Eric J. Holcomb

---

Jim Morrison works diligently with the Indiana Department of Veterans Affairs to help our former service men and women have access to the resources they need, whether that be medical, educational or work-related. In 2013, Jim created and oversees the State of Indiana Veteran Opportunity Program which allows Employers, Educators, and Service providers to partner with the state and be displayed on the Indiana Department of Veterans Affairs website. These resources are then readily available to Veterans and their family members, other state agencies and 501c3's. Jim additionally handles constituent concerns, meets with employers and educators, assists the IDVA with Community Outreach events, and participates in various Veterans Boards and Committees.

Jim graduated from Illinois State University. He resides in Zionsville, IN with his wife, Sarah. They have three adult children.
